Course Description:

This course is designed to introduce you to the main concepts and theories of developmental psychology, from conception to death. This course surveys psychology as both a science and an applied discipline. Topics to be covered include conception, prenatal development, infancy, toddlerhood, preschool years, middle childhood, adolescence, early adulthood, middle adulthood, late adulthood and death and looks at physical, mental and social development in each of the above mentioned stages.

Course Objectives:

The objectives of this course are: 1) To critically think about and gain knowledge of the main theories and concepts of developmental psychology; and 2) To leave this course with a basic understanding of developmental psychology, not only in the academic sense, but also an understanding of the everyday or practical nature of developmental psychology and how it applies to your physical, mental and social development.

Course Format:

This course will consist of a combination of lectures, class discussion, assigned readings, videos, group and individual projects and performance on quizzes and exams.

Course Requirements:

Attendance and Class Participation. You are expected to attend class and stay for the whole period. You will be expected to demonstrate an understanding of the assigned reading by actively participating in class discussions. If you miss a class, it is your responsibility to get class notes from a fellow student. If you are going to miss a class, please call me before class to let me know. You may be dropped from class if you are absent consecutively for the equivalent of one week of instruction, but DO NOT count on the instructor dropping you. If you want to drop the class, it is your responsibility. Please check your I.V.C. e-mail and/or Blackboard before class in case the instructor will not be attending class that day.

Projects/Thought Papers. There will be three (3) one page papers due at various times during the semester. For the paper, you can read an article regarding developmental psychology. This article can be in a newspaper, magazine, psychology journal, off the internet or even be an issue mentioned in a television program; OR you may write a thought paper about a topic of your choice related to developmental psychology from the book or class discussion. The thought paper is a chance for you to give your opinions, viewpoints and personal experiences. Each thought paper will be 1-2 pages and will be worth 25 points. No late thought papers will be accepted. I DO NOT accept thought papers by e-mail.

Quizzes. Six (6) quizzes will be given during the semester. I will take the five (5) quizzes with the highest scores to determine your points. Since I will be throwing out the one lowest score for quizzes, no late quizzes will be accepted. Each quiz will be worth 10 points.

Exams. Four (4) exams will be given. Exams will consist of multiple choice, fill in the blank, short answer and essay questions from the textbook, lectures and videos. No make-up exams will be given unless you have called me PRIOR to the exam and let me know you will not be able to take the exam. If you contact me prior to the exam, you will have one week to make-up the exam. Each exam will be worth 100 points. Please bring a scantron and a #2 pencil to each examination.

SLO Project. In order to demonstrate communication skills, you will be required to write a 2-3 page paper. You will be given a list of movies and choose one to review for this project. To demonstrate critical thinking skills, from the movie, you will identify and describe physical developmental stages, cognitive (mental) developmental stages, and one of Erikson's psychosocial developmental stages for one of the characters in the movie. You will support your work with examples from the movie. Personal responsibility will be ascertained by your completing and turning in this project when due.
