Course Description

This lab class offers intensive instruction in writing, research, reading, and critical thinking skills to promote success in a concurrent English 110 course. This course allows a qualified student to bypass English 009. This course follows the freshman composition co-requisite model of acceleration. (Nontransferable, nondegree applicable)

English 55, a lab support course, is paired with English 110. English 55 is designed to assist students in completing their homework assignments and essay assignments for this class. Enrolling in English 110 with the support course English 55 allows students to bypass English 009. However, students who have qualified for English 110, but feel they could use more support in English composition, will also benefit from taking the paired courses. Both courses are graded separately. English 110 follows the traditional grading scale and English 55 is pass/no pass.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon satisfactory completion of the course, students will be able to:

1. Critically read, analyze, and evaluate a variety of primarily non-fiction texts for content and context.
2. Utilize appropriate pre- and post-reading strategies to analyze patterns of organization within a variety of texts.
3. Write grammatically correct sentences that adhere to conventions of written English.
4. Integrate the ideas of others through paraphrasing, summarizing, and quoting utilizing appropriate MLA format and guidelines.
5. Compose, evaluate, and edit an essay with an introduction, body, and conclusion, which includes organizing an essay around a controlling idea and developing main idea paragraphs with effective use of supporting details.

Course Objectives

1. Write an expository essay that demonstrates beginning competence in both form and content
 - a. The essay will:

- i. Address the writing task
- ii. Be organized
- iii. Use details and examples to support the thesis
- iv. Demonstrate facility with grammar and syntax

Course Requirements and Instructional Methods

In-class work/homework:

The lab/journa assignments in each class are designed to improve and enhance the writing skills necessary to pass English 110. Along with labs, you will build or revise work from the English 110 class.

- In this lab course, you will be doing a series of journal response writings based on articles as well as working on essays assigned from our Eng. 110 course.
- Additionally, there could be grammar assignments as necessary to meet the goals of Eng. 110

Course Grading Based on Course Objectives

This is a pass/fail course. If you satisfactorily complete the lab assignments, which must be turned in at the end of class (no out of class makeups), use your time wisely to wok on essays from 110 and have strong attendance, you will pass the course. If attendance is weak (missing four or more classes), if labs are not submitted and if you are found not be using your time to work on essays, you will not pass the course.

- Accordingly, each lab/journal assignment will be graded as pass/no pass.

Attendance

- A student who fails to attend the first meeting of a class or does not complete the first mandatory activity of an online class will be dropped by the instructor as of the first official meeting of that class. Should readmission be desired, the student's status will be the same as that of any other student who desires to add a class. It is the student's responsibility to drop or officially withdraw from the class. See General Catalog for details.
- Regular attendance in all classes is expected of all students. A student whose continuous, unexcused absences exceed the number of hours the class is scheduled to meet per week may be dropped. For online courses, students who fail to complete required activities for two consecutive weeks may be considered to have excessive absences and may be dropped.

- Absences attributed to the representation of the college at officially approved events (conferences, contests, and field trips) will be counted as ‘excused’ absences.

Specific rules for class:

- You can miss up to three classes without impacting your grade. Four absences or more could lead to not passing the course.
- Tardies and leaving class early are acceptable to a point, but if abused, it could lead to not passing the course.

Classroom Etiquette

- Electronic Devices: Cell phones and electronic devices must be turned off and put away during class, unless otherwise directed by the instructor.
- Food and Drink are prohibited in all classrooms. Water bottles with lids/caps are the only exception. Additional restrictions will apply in labs. Please comply as directed by the instructor.

Student Equity Program

- The Student Equity Program strives to improve Imperial Valley College's success outcomes, particularly for students who have been historically underrepresented and underserved. The college identifies strategies to monitor and address equity issues, making efforts to mitigate any disproportionate impact on student success and achievement. Our institutional data provides insight surrounding student populations who historically, are not fully represented. Student Equity addresses disparities and/or disproportionate impact in student success across disaggregated student equity groups including gender, ethnicity, disability status, financial need, Veterans, foster youth, homelessness, and formerly incarcerated students. The Student Equity Program provides direct supportive services to empower students experiencing insecurities related to food, housing, transportation, textbooks, and shower access. We recognize that students who struggle meeting their basic needs are also at an academic and economic disadvantage, creating barriers to academic success and wellness. We strive to remove barriers that affect IVC students' access to education, degree and certificate completion, successful completion of developmental math and English courses, and the ability to transfer to a university. Contact: 760.355.5736 or 760.355.5733 Building 100.

- The Student Equity Program also houses IVC's Homeless Liaison, who provides direct services, campus, and community referrals to students experiencing homelessness as defined by the McKinney-Vento Act. Contact: 760.355.5736 Building 100.
